

Custom Food Grade Food Tin Box Product Overview & Details

1. Core Material & Safety Compliance

The tin box is made of 0.23mm thick tinplate—a material renowned for its excellent durability, corrosion resistance, and barrier performance. It effectively blocks moisture, oxygen, and light, preserving the freshness, flavor, and shelf life of internal food products (e.g., candies, cookies, spices, or dried fruits) for extended periods. As a professional **Custom Food Grade Food Tin Box Manufacturer**, we strictly select food-grade tinplate that complies with global food safety regulations (such as FDA, EU 10/2011), ensuring no harmful substances leach into food and safeguarding consumer health.

2. Fully Customized Specifications

- Dimensions: Fully customized to match specific food packaging requirements. Whether for small single-serve portions or large-family size products, we can adjust length, width, height, and capacity to fit your product's unique needs.
- Structural Design: Structurally customized in design, size, and printing—options include flip-top lids, screw-top closures, hinged lids, or sliding covers, among others. Each structural design is optimized for user convenience (e.g., easy opening/closing) and product protection (e.g., leak-proof or tamper-evident features).
- Printing Quality: Adopts advanced CMYK + Spot Color printing technology to achieve vivid, high-definition, and long-lasting graphics. The printing process is non-toxic and scratch-resistant, ensuring the tin box's branding design (logos, product information, or promotional visuals) remains clear even after long-term storage or transportation.

3. Production & Supply Strength

As a leading **China Custom Food Grade Food Tin Box Factory**, we leverage mature production lines and strict quality control systems (from raw material inspection to final product testing) to ensure consistent product quality and on-time delivery. Our production base is located in Guangdong, China—a region with a well-developed manufacturing supply chain, enabling us to efficiently handle both small-batch samples and large-volume bulk orders.

Moreover, as a trusted **Guangdong Custom Food Grade Food Tin Box Supplier**, we offer end-to-end customization services: from initial design consultation (assisting clients in optimizing structural and printing solutions) to sample production and mass manufacturing. We also provide flexible logistics support to deliver products to global destinations, helping food brands enhance product competitiveness through premium, branded packaging.
